Samanji emphasized:

"A teacher holds the immense power to inspire thousands of lives. This role is not just a profession, but a deeply satisfying journey of meaning and transformation."

Power of Silence and Reflection

One of the most unique features of the Shibir was the observance of morning silence (Maun) till noon, fostering deep inner stillness. Participants used this sacred time for self-reflection, meditation, and introspective journaling.

"Inner potential cannot be discovered merely through listening or activity.

It reveals itself in moments of calmness and deep silence."
